Swears It Is Booth

1 1 4

F. W. Beach, the furniture man, was in Enid Sunday. He went to see the corpse of D. E. George, the suicide who claimed to be B. Wilkes Booth; Mr. Beach says that he is satisfied himself that ()the man really is Booth, and says it would be a hard matter for anyone to make him believe otherwise. A great many perople in Enid. believe the man was Booth. The corpse is in a fine state of preservation and looks very natural. The undertaker has it sitting in a chair in the rear of his establishment.
