

Additional Facts Respecting Booth's Capture—A Maryland Surgeon Arrested.

A letter received in this city yesterday, says:

"Booth's leg having been broken, he went to the house of Dr. Mudd, in Charles County, and had it set at 3 o'clock in the morning of Sunday, April 16—the second day after the murder of the President.

"Dr. Mudd split Booth's boot open to get it off, and when he left, the Doctor gave him a pair of crutches, and it is supposed that he left in an easterly direction from the neighborhood of Bryantown.

"Harrold was with Booth at that time.

"Dr. Mudd was arrested by the military with one of Booth's boots in his possession, which had Booth's name in it. The Doctor was immediately taken to Washington."

Harrold is a young man less than 25 years of age, native of Washington, formerly a druggist's clerk in that city, but for some months without visible means of support, though during that time apparently well supplied with money. He has frequently been in St. Mary's County, Md., always taking his gun with him. The night of the assassination he was seen, it will be remembered, at the livery stable with Booth.

New York Daily Tribune
Friday, April 28, 1865
page 1 column 6