

Testimony of Scipiano Grillo

at the Trial of John H. Surratt

Vol. 1, p. 176 - 1867

(Kept a restaurent under Ford's Theater)

Had known J. Wilkes Booth five or six years before the assassination; that he had been in the profession himself as a musician; that he saw Booth in the morning of the day of the assassination, about 11 o'clock, and that Booth had some letters which he had received which had come addressed to the theater.
